

We are happy to invite you to the “Digital Security Stakeholders Conference 2018”, which is organised by the Office of the Commissioner of Electronic Communications and Postal Regulation (OCECPR) on Thursday 25/1/18, in Nicosia.

This conference is addressed to a large number of stakeholders in the area of cybersecurity, such as critical information infrastructures operators, covering the energy, transport, health, government, water, banking and financial infrastructure sectors, as well as digital infrastructures.

During the conference there will be a number of presentations related to cybersecurity, such as the results of a recent cybersecurity capacity maturity assessment for Cyprus by the University of Oxford, our plans for the revision of the National Cybersecurity Strategy, the implementation of the NIS (Network and Information Security) Directive, the new Cybersecurity Package of the European Commission and other presentations from international organisations.

The plans for expected developments in the area of cybersecurity for the next few years will be presented at this conference. Cybersecurity now affects most areas of citizens’ everyday life, and the importance of keeping national infrastructures safe is paramount.

The agenda, which contains details of all the presentations, is attached.
